Have you ever realized; When you go somewhere for example to a restaurant you get really bad service because to them you are a child. This happens to most of teens today, some times it also happens to adults. The way teens are treated is how they learn to treat others when they grow up. the moral is just because some-one is pretrad to be a child if they come into you restaurant, shop or what ever treat them as the way you would like to be treated if you where the costumer. so follow the saying treat others the way you wanna be treated
