

Sunset

The ocean breeze slowly blows
As the tired sky turns to gold The mountains are glared by the rays of the sun Showing it time to end the fun As the waves slowly reach the shore Streetlights flash and cover the floor The sun creeps lower in the sky It will soon be time to say goodbye As the ocean floods the setting sun We know the night has begun

By Meelina G.
Fairfield High School