

With the Wings She Earned

With the wings she earned,
She flies high.
Never giving me a chance,
To say goodbye.
We made plans to enjoy together,
But now she's gone-
From my life forever.
In my mind and heart,
Are the places she'll always be.
I can still hear her voice,
Saying she loves me.
We talked about my graduation day,
And how she was going to be there.
But when I look up into the stands,
I'll realize she'll be no where.
I hope she's in a better place,
And I hope there's a smile across her face.
I was supposed to visit her,
That day she passed.
But mom said I'd go Monday,
Not knowing Sunday would be her last.
I cry when I think of her,
And smile as well.
But I pretend to be strong,
So no one can tell.
The fact I didn't get to say goodbye,
Tears me apart.
But just know that even if your physically gone,
You'll always be in my heart.
