

If we had a million dollars, we would buy a house and cars. And we would all start our own business; I would buy the mall. I would also own the police station so there wouldn't be more tickets.

