the first time i saw an angel is when i met you. you looked at me with your big brown eyes and i knew that i was head over hills in love with you and not that simple love that will go away when you meet someone else but the kind of love that would be their to stay the kind you cant help ive looked and looked but cannot find anyone like you though ive tried ive looked and searched and found no substitute sadly,there is no cure no antidote for a broken heart as you may know sometimes i wish i could lay down and die every time i see you i want break down and cry my love is so strong i dont know if i can carry on though i try i cannot hide and i wish you wold try to find me your dreamgirl your angel your one and only love
