

Times can be tough

Times can be rough

But in the end there's always gonna be someone who wants to be your friend I remember the day when i used to cry I remember the day when grandma died I'm young and beautiful and i believe, That i have a goal that i can acheive

Someone is submitting content for the Solano Teen Magazine.

Submitted by aubrianna
will c. wood high school