

poem

Men, cannot resist her
Boys, adore her
It is her sweet, respected voice
Her warm tone, like honey swirling with tea She is strong and irresistible Her offer is too kind

Willing to fight for her family
She adopts more each day
Her sons are many
Her numerous family she defends and protects Against anyone taking a stand against them

We work together
As one
We cooperate
We love
We show it, through actions of bravery and selflessness Never afraid to give more of ourselves More of what we have More than what we have

And no one can resist the thought of someone loving us like their own Loving us like their own self It is possible that what the lost ones, the homeless ones, the rejected ones Long for Wish and want so much But do not even know it themselves Is a mother

Name: Samarah F.
School: Vacaville High School